

WE HAD LOST track of recent events in the Arkansas legislature, until yesterday — and judging from what happened yesterday the lawmakers aren't doing any better now than they were at the beginning of the session.

Yesterday's (7) report from Little Rock said the lower house voted down an increase in the beer tax, but immediately afterward received a bill by Rep. Lynch of Poinsett county to step up the state sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent.

The defeated beer tax would have raised the levy from 1 1/2 cents a bottle to 4 cents, and a large part of all alcoholic beverage taxes goes to the school fund.

Lynch's new bill also is designed to help the schools. He calls it a package bill, recommended as a cure-all for the financial troubles of education. Lynch estimates that increasing the state sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent would produce 23 million dollars' additional revenue in the next two years.

The calculations are elemental. The revenue figure he has just quoted is approximately what the present 2 per cent state sales tax produces in one year; therefore, if the tax rate were raised by one-half, the increase would equal that total in two years — in theory, that is.

But the original sales tax was a drastic and dangerous enactment, cracking down directly on the necessities of life — especially on the poor. Furthermore, a sales tax affects merchandising, which has to meet competition from states with a lower rate, or as in the case of neighboring Texas 34 miles west of Hope, a state with no sales tax at all.

The average man's conclusion will be that any tax increase is preferable to a rise in the state sales tax rate.

It certainly doesn't make sense to beat down an increase in the beer tax, and then start talking about increasing the rate of tax on milk and bread — which the sales tax covers.

Nor does it make sense trying to dig up 10 million a year or so out of a proposed sales tax increase when the amount or more could be picked up by the state government simply by seizing the liquor industry and setting up a publicly-owned dispensary system in Arkansas. Thirteen great states already have done so, including Alabama, North Carolina and Virginia, in the South.

Junior Class to Stage 3-Act Play Here March 9

"We Shook The Family Tree," a fast-moving, three-act comedy by Perry Clark, will be presented by the Junior class of Hope High school in the auditorium on March 9.

Ann Barr, as Hildegard, the desperate wallflower, and Jimmy Compton as Freddie her "dashing new beau," have the romantic leads and head a cast of twelve.

William Martin, who Hildegard convinces everyone is a drunkard in a drinking debate, and Sara Lauterbach, his wife, play her innocent parents.

Nolan Stanford is cast as Bobby, the older brother, who has a passion for fishing, and Richard Duffie as the younger brother, who has a knack for inventing gadgets.

James Fuller Russell and Charlotte Tarpley play Mr. and Mrs. Sherman, Freddie's parents, who are more or less the old-fashioned type and force Freddie to wear knickerbockers everywhere he goes, including the dance.

Barbara Smith and Claudette Doyle, as Ellie-May and Jill, respectively are a pair of pretty girls, and Tish Smith, as Paige, is a mischief-maker, who even resorts to eating a tube of tooth paste. Winding up the cast, Jackie Holt is cast as Sally, Hildegard's little sister who tries to aid her through her dilemmas.

Miss Clarice Brown is director of the play.

McMath to Stay Out of Spa Affairs

Little Rock, Feb. 14 — (AP) — Governor McMath says he won't call on the state police to interfere with open gambling at Hot Springs unless one of two things occurs:

(1) Law enforcement officials call for assistance, or

(2) "The gambling" violations become so flagrant as to constitute a source of embarrassment to the state of Arkansas, and, therefore a state problem x x x.

Meeting with a delegation from Hot Springs yesterday, the governor said he considered recent reopening of a gambling house there a local matter.

He distributed copies of a letter he'd sent to Garland county and Hot Springs officials expressing his views in the matter.

McMath said he still personally opposes an "open town."

Open gambling in Hot Springs was suspended following McMath's election as prosecutor there more than four years ago.

Parts of State Gripped by Icy Coating

Although many sections of Arkansas had an icy covering today, this area suffered nothing but a brisk, biting wind and rainfall.

The temperature dropped from a pleasant high of 73 to freezing at 32 during the past 24 hours, according to Experiment Station records.

Little Rock, Feb. 14 (AP) Sleet, snow and freezing rain laid another icy coating on north Arkansas today.

In the south, however, there was little to remind folks of the frigid icecap of two weeks ago.

An all-night sleet piled up three inches deep in Fayetteville at 7 a.m. more of the same was forecast.

More than two inches of sleet, ice and snow had fallen at Harrison early today.

Highways throughout the north Arkansas Ozarks were hazardous. District Highway Supervisor Jewell Whitaker at Harrison said "we're virtually closed in with highways almost impassable. There is not much we can do about it with the sleet continuing."

Rural schools near Harrison were closed so were schools at Eureka Springs.

The lowest temperature reported this morning at 20 degrees at Eureka Springs and Morrilton. It was 22 at Harrison, 23 at Fayetteville, 29 at Fort Smith and up to 30 at Dorado in south Arkansas.

The mercury was rising slightly in the north and dropping sharply in southern portions of the state.

Except for falling temperatures, however, south Arkansas wasn't too uncomfortable. Drizzling rain at Pine Bluff, Camden, El Dorado and elsewhere was not freezing at midmorning.

A light rain froze on automobile windshields at Paragould and Jonesboro in northeast Arkansas, but streets were clear of ice.

Elkin's Store Bought by Specialty Shop

Elkin's Store, downtown at the corner of Main and Second streets, has been purchased by Ladies Specialty Shop, Inc., it was announced today by W. Mike Kelly, president and manager of the organization. In the future the store will be known as "Vogue."

It is the plan of the management to continue with the good lines formerly handled by the store and to add a larger assortment of moderately priced fashionable merchandise.

Vogue and Ladies Specialty Shop, Inc. will be operated as two separate and complete ladies ready-to-wear and shoe stores. The management promises to continue to stock the latest fashions at prices that are "right."

The personnel that served the public for Elkin's, will continue at Vogue. Mrs. Joe Green will remain as manager. The staff includes Mrs. Clifford Franks, Mrs. Verda Segnar, Mrs. Edith Honeycutt, along with the addition of Mrs. Noah Hobbs, who will be in charge of the shoe department.

Vogue will have a "Hello Sale," Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week, then will settle down to taking care of the public's fashion desires in a courteous and efficient manner, Mr. Kelly indicated.

PMA Outlines Farm Program

Little Rock, Feb. 14 — (AP) — An all-out agricultural production program to meet needs was launched in Arkansas today by the production and marketing administration of the department of agriculture.

J. L. Wright, chairman of the state PMA committee, announced production guides to meet 1951 defense needs on major spring-planted crops.

"Full production from Arkansas farms is essential in the defense effort," Wright said. "Our aim is the highest feasible production for those crops which will be needed most."

"In Arkansas, the biggest increase in production is sought in the cotton crop. The national goal is production of 10,000,000 bales. The Arkansas acreage guide for 1951 is 2,550,000 acres compared with 1,728,000 acres in 1950."

"Another big increase is sought for the rice crop with requested planting of 410,000 acres this year, compared with 345,000 acres in 1950."

The corn acreage guide for 1951 recommended a 235,000-acre decrease in the state. Last year 1,485,000 acres were planted.

SHE CAN'T BELIEVE IT — "I can't believe all of that is for me," says 12-year-old Jacquelyn Marre of Atlanta, Georgia. Nearly everyone wants to be Jacquelyn's Valentine. Hundreds of admirers from the U. S. and Canada are making a nice girl "Valentine." Atlanta's "Little Miss Valentine" is suffering from an incurable brain cancer. Postman Jack McKenney brings two bags of mail per day and has even delivered a baby lion from Clyde Beatty. All Jacquelyn wants is "Valentines and World Peace." (NEA Telephoto)

Tax Framers Seek Advice of Economists

Washington, Feb. 14 — (AP) — House tax writers working on President Truman's hurry-up request for $10,000,000,000 more revenue sought advice today from two key economic officials on meshing the proposed tax increase with the price stabilization program.

Stabilization Director Eric Johnston and Price Director Michael V. Disalle were invited to lay their views on the problem before the house ways and means committee, which resumed hearings at 10:30 a.m. EST after a four-day recess.

"Taxes and controlling inflation are in the same bucket," said Rep. King (D-Calif.), at whose request Johnston and Disalle were requested to appear.

King told reporters that before congress attempts to say how any additional revenue shall be raised, it should have full information as to what the stabilization agencies have in mind. A man whose present budget would permit a little more taxes at the present price levels might not have an extra quarter available later on unless prices are held firmly in check, he said.

The president's tax program, as detailed to the committee last week by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, calls for increases of $4,000,000,000 on individuals, $3,000,000,000 on corporations and $3,000,000,000 on a selected list of excise levies, in the first bite.

This, according to the administration, should be followed later this year by a second tax increase (it would be the fourth since the outbreak of the Korean war) to raise the rest of the $10,500,000,000 Mr. Truman estimates will be needed to balance next year's $71,600,000,000 budget.

City PTA Groups to Hold Joint Meet Thursday

All local Parent-Teacher associations will meet jointly in the high school auditorium Thursday, February 15 at 2:30 p.m. for the annual Founder's Day program and Silver Tea.

Mrs. George W. Robison, county council president, will give the welcome address. Reverend S. A. Whitlow will bring the devotional. A play, "Deep Are the Roots" under the direction of Miss Jessie Clarice Brown and Tawanna Green will be presented.

The tea which will follow the program will be held in the Home Ec. building under the supervision of Mrs. Hamilton Hanagan.

Negro Home Is Destroyed by Fire

A negro home on North Hickory street caught fire and burned about 9 o'clock last night, the Fire Department announced today. It was a total loss.

Firemen said the blaze caught from a trash fire. It was owned by Ed Evans.

Construction of New Bakery to Start on Monday

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new $75,000 Meyers Bakery to be constructed here were held Tuesday afternoon at the site of the proposed plant on Highway 67 East.

Charles Meyers, St. of Little Rock, president of the state-wide bakery system, O. E. Glasier, Little Rock, Chester Hunt, manager of the local bakery, Claude Lauterbach, Claude Tillery, Franklin McLarty, Mike Kelly and J. I. Liebman attended the activities.

Construction is planned to begin next Monday and the building is expected to be completed within 90 days.

Chinese Doing More to Improve U. S. Army Than Anything Since the Famed Garand Rifle

By HAL BOYLE

New York — (AP) The Chinese have probably done more to improve the American army than anything since the invention of the Garand rifle.

This odd contribution came as a result of their entrance into the Korean war last fall.

"That served as a kind of land version of Pearl Harbor in waking our country up," said one staff officer. "And it has provided us with a proving ground in ways and means of fighting a modern orient foot army."

The big lesson the Chinese taught immediately was this: big guns alone won't defeat masses of people already disciplined by their leaders to accept death.

The American infantryman has learned he cannot wait in a foxhole and expect his own artillery to pulverize the foe before him. Artillery can't do it alone anymore than strafing airplanes can. So the doughboy has become more resourceful in attack. He is developing again the kind of initiative for which his ancestor — the American frontiersman — was famous. He has taken his bayonet out of the sheath strapped to his leg and put it back on his rifle where it belongs. And he is using his bayonet now.

Everyone knows that the enemy strongly outnumbered the United Nations forces in Korea. The term "hordes" is widely used.

"What most civilians fail to realize, however, is that even when one American division is matched against one Chinese division the American division is outnumbered in a vital respect — riflemen.

The rifleman is still the focal man on the battlefield. But a division of 10,000 Chinese actually can muster twice as many riflemen as an American division of 18,000 men. This margin of superior small arms firepower on the combat line has been a tremendous advantage to the Chinese.

How can they do it? Because of the difference in organization and culture between their foot armies and the American mechanized army.

Men Aren't Romantic as in Old Days

By ED CREAGH

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP) — Let's face it: Men aren't what they used to be.

But women haven't changed a bit.

On this St. Valentine's day, try to imagine a 1951 male with the old poetic spirit to tell his gal: "I bear in signs of love 'A sparrow in my glove, 'And in my breast a dove— This shall be thine."

gets — the best food and the best clothing available. He expects small comforts such as shaving cream, candy, comic books and tobacco. He expects to be hospitalized when he is wounded or ill. He expects to have his body recovered, identified and properly buried if he is killed in action. These things are part of his tradition. No army provides more of these services than the American army. But they take a lot of manpower in each division — truck drivers, dentists, mechanics, chaplains, special service staffs, clerks and cooks.

The Chinese soldier goes into battle expecting little — and getting nothing except what he carries on his own back. He is just a human animal under orders. And that tradition enables a Chinese division to use most of its troops as riflemen.

Couldn't an American division do the same thing? "It could if we made our men forage off the countryside, gave them nothing but weapons and ammunition, and let the badly wounded and the dead lie where they fell," said one officer. "But that is against our entire traditions as a people. And if we did do it we wouldn't have an American division in the field — it would be, in effect, a Chinese division."

What is the solution then. Some officers feel the answer is for the American army never to engage in a full size land war in Asia. They too great a superiority in manpower, and any war against them should be waged with seapower and airpower.

But others think that as a result of the lessons learned in Korea — ever closer collaboration between our tanks, artillery, infantry, tactical aircraft and naval vessels — the American armed services can defeat mass oriental armies by aggressive teamwork.

The American infantry has developed new techniques of night fighting and methods of keeping the enemy off balance by hit and run raids. The doughboy today is more resourceful soldier in every way than he was a year ago. He's more willing to come to close quarters with the foe.

For that he has the Chinese to thank.

MacArthur Not to Get Power Sought

Washington, Feb. 14 — (AP) — Officials here see little chance that Gen. Douglas MacArthur will get the power and authority he considers necessary to achieve complete victory over the Chinese Communists in Korea.

The expected dispatch of American troops to Western Europe, a widespread desire in high places here for a reasonable Korean settlement if possible, the determination to avoid spreading the war — all these factors seem certain to work against fulfillment of the conditions described by MacArthur as essential to success.

In a Tokyo statement following a battlefield visit, the Allied commander yesterday described the situation this way: Recent U. N. advances have been merely tactical successes; it is academic now to talk about a massive drive across the 38th parallel into North Korea; such a drive would require offsetting the numerical superiority of the Communists with their protected bases in Manchuria.

From the blunt summary he made and his insistence on the point that there are decisions beyond his province which only governments can make, it is apparent that MacArthur is calling for a definition of United Nations objectives in Korea now and the decision to pay the price necessary to win them.

His own estimate indicated that steps necessary to a military victory would require (1) a substantial enlargement of U. N. forces to more nearly equal those of the foe and (2) authority to bombard positions and communications of the Chinese troops in Manchuria.

On the first point, while MacArthur's forces are being given replacements now and brought up to full strength, the state and defense departments are anxious to build up as fast as possible divisions for assignment to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's new Atlantic pact command in Western Europe. MacArthur is understood to have sought permission to use Chinese Nationalist troops from Formosa but that has been denied on grounds they were needed to defend that island.

Tokyo, Feb. 14 (AP) — South Korean marines landed today at the big North Korean east coast port of Wonsan in a surprise raid under cover of a strong allied naval bombardment.

Wonsan is 80 miles inside Red territory above Parallel 38 on the sea of Japan.

On the turning central Korean front, American, French and Dutch forces inflicted a staggering toll on Chinese and Red Korean divisions striving for a breakthrough along a 20-mile-wide sector.

A field dispatch said the Allied defenders shattered two Communist divisions "in a welter of blood, bombs and shellfire." It added: "The Chinese dead lay by the thousands on all sides of surrounded Chipyong."

They thousands were heaped on all sides of surrounded Chipyong. Other thousands were heaped up also in the river valley north where they stumbled into a murderous air and artillery ambush."

On the western front, American Doughboys mowed down 1,152 Red Korean meat troops who had crossed the Han river and slipped inside Allied lines. They captured nearly 250 more Communist soldiers.

American machine-guns cut down fleeing remnants of the Red Korean force as they tried to splash back across the Han.

Allied losses were reported small.

U. S. 25th Division troops wiped out two Red patrols who were stalking boldly across Sand Island, a sandbar in the Han between Seoul and its industrial suburb, Yongsu.

The 80 Reds in the patrol used Korean civilians as a shield. As a signal, the civilians dropped the ground and the Reds fired.

Mexican Money Illegal, Mayor Wants Some Steak

A "conscience-stricken" law violator has created somewhat of a moot problem for Hope's city officials.

Jim Gentry of Bizbee, Arizona, was a recent visitor in the city and his car was tagged for a parking meter violation. Mr. Gentry failed to report to the police station and settle for his ticket.

Apparently his conscience got the best of him because today Mayor Lyle Brown received an apology letter from Mr. Gentry in which he enclosed $5, which would more than pay the penalty. But here comes the hitch: He paid it in Mexican money.

After considerable legal research Mayor Brown came up with this solution:

"Since this is not United States currency it is not legal tender. So Mr. Gentry's fine is not paid and he is a fugitive from justice. Under the law we cannot extradite him from Arizona for a petty offense. But he owes a large ranch in this county and he will be back before long."

Torrell Cornelius, life-long friend of Mr. Gentry, offered to pay the fine but Mayor Brown said this would not be legal.

"And besides," the Mayor added "the longer he waits to pay if the more it will be. The City owns a lot of pasture land at the airport and if Mr. Gentry doesn't come back and settle his debt we can take some of these Brahama cattle he owns and turn them in our pasture. With the price of meat as it is, I think we would come out in pretty good shape."

Dress Rehearsal for Kiwanis Minstrel Tonight

Dress rehearsal for the 8th annual Kiwanis Minstrel will be held tonight at the high school, Director Emmett Thompson, announced.

All participants, including special acts must be present. The show will be staged at the school auditorium Thursday and Friday nights starting at 8 o'clock. Ticket sales indicate a sell out for both nights.

Net proceeds, as in previous years, go to support the Hope Youth Center.

Compulsory Draft Slated For Group Vote

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP) — long-term program of compulsory military training and service including the right to draft year-olds for two years or more — was slated for approval today by the senate armed services committee.

Senator Lyndon Johnson (Tex.), chief sponsor of the "universal military training and service act," (UMTS) hoped for unanimous vote by the 13 makers. The defense department said the bill it submitted to congress "universal military training and service," but the committee report switched it to "training service."

Johnson nods the proposed subcommittee which held hearings on the bill and revised it for action by the armed services committee and the senate.

"I believe this is a good bill enduring bill, a wholly fair bill of legislation which can be a cornerstone to a half-century American strength," Johnson said in a statement.

Johnson and other sponsors confident they have framed a range and permanent legislation for the present short-term law.

All that would be needed about mobilization, they would be to raise the age above 20 years and change the law for World War I service in his statement.

The measure would allow for an emergency buildup of the nation's fighting forces to the Korean war and other emergency conditions.

It said it also would allow overadequate reserve of "seasoned men" and declared present Korean fighting and War I and II might have avoided by such a program.

Favorable committee action would send the UMTS to the senate floor, where it and heated debate is likely. Senate Majority Leader, (D-Ariz.) has indicated wants to settle the "troop rope" dispute before taking draft measure.

The house armed services committee plans to resume its work on the draft bill Thursday.

Both Johnson's statement and the committee report showed that the issue still is lowering the minimum induction age to 18. That had not been done in history except in time of war.

Basic Committee of Civil Defense Plan Organized

Initial plans for a Basic County civil defense plan were made Tuesday night at a meeting of the civil defense council composed of representatives of the county's major organizations.

Donald Bill, director of civil defense program, explained reasons for a system and presented a plan of the program in action.

Engineering, fire, law, warden, air raid and flood control, law enforcement against special weapons, radiation, highway and aviation committees were formed.

Mrs. Lou Robinson, county council president, will give the welcome address. Reverend S. A. Whitlow will bring the devotional. A play, "Deep Are the Roots" under the direction of Miss Jessie Clarice Brown and Tawanna Green will be presented.

The tea which will follow the program will be held in the Home Ec. building under the supervision of Mrs. Hamilton Hanagan.

at Allied forces on the south bank. The GI's fired back. "It was like shooting sitting ducks," one American soldier said. A second Red patrol was swept out as it raced across the Seoul city airport which is located on the sand flat.

The landing at Wonsan, on the sea of Japan, was made early Wednesday afternoon. A big allied task force including the Battleship Missouri bombarded Red installations. Then the South Korean marines swarmed ashore north of the harbor.

Eleventh Army headquarters said the ROKs fought to the city's outskirts and seized two islands off the port.

Resistance was reported light. But a large force of Reds was spotted moving south on the port from Hamhung, about 50 miles to the north.

Across the peninsula, at least seven Russian-built MIG-15 jets attacked American B29s. The Su perforts were making a bomb run over Red barracks at Tokchon. All returned safely to their Japanese base, landing in a snowstorm.

Bad weather held down the number of Allied flights in support of ground forces. But skies cleared somewhat at noon Wednesday permitting Allied warplanes to strike in about 100 sorties along the flaming central front.

The enemy pushed their ground attack there at tremendous costs in Red manpower.

Air and artillery have been doing a tremendous job on these (Red) columns," a 10th corps spokesman said. "They have been hitting them all day."

Five Red columns with a nea-ly estimated strength of 4,000 men were spotted moving south toward Wonsan from the northwest.

An Allied unit which had been surrounded seven miles southeast of Chipyong broke out of the Communist ring Wednesday morning after a two hour fight. Later it counter-attacked and pursued the Reds into the hills four miles north-east of Yaju.

Men

Well, they did it in granddaddy's time.

The Library of Congress proved it today, unearthing -- by request -- some choice specimens of yesterday's valentines.

Compare them with today's slick, gag-in-everyline jobs and you get a sad, sad comparison -- from the viewpoint of any young woman who hoped for three cents' worth of old-fashioned sentiment in this morning's mail.

Today a girl is lucky if she gets a dime-store card with some such heart-stirring message as:

"Your eyes are crossed, your knees are knocked, and I'm kind of like you when I'm crooked."

Ah, but in grandfather's time, men wrote their own then, or at least copied them from the cupid-alike-helper books that had a cryptic style. Here's a ripe example from the Library of Congress: "Your lips are bright twin corals. Your teeth the fairest pearls. Your eyes are sister sapphires. And golden rings your curls."

Oh, they were up to the age-old sport of attacking hatpins into the male ego.

Here's one girl's tender reply (A. D. 1887) to a poor guy who proposed to her by valentine:

"You're very kind and thoughtful. And, believe me, so am I -- For if I should ever marry you I surely hope you'd die."

Even when the lady was willing she usually managed to cross up the guy somehow.

There's one tantalizing frag-ment supposedly written by a very early 20th-century girl on Valen-tine's day:

"Ma, she says it's awful. Pa, he thinks it's sin. But gee! when I think of your sweet lips --"

The last line is missing.

Unknown Makes Bail for Remington

New York, Feb. 14 -- (AP) -- Aided by an anonymous benefactor, Wil-iam W. Remington was free today in $7,000 bail.

Remington, 33-year-old former lieutenant of communists, econo-mist, was granted the bail pending appeal of his perjury conviction.

He had been free in $5,000 bail, and the U.S. Circuit Court of Ap-peals yesterday approved his con-tingent freedom in $7,000 bail.

The additional $2,000 was posted last yesterday afternoon. Defense Counsel William C. Chanler said a friend of Remington had put up the money with an understanding that Remington was not to know who did it. The original $5,000 had been posted by Remington's aged parents.

Chanler said the benefactor in-ferred anonymity so that neither Remington nor his family would feel obligated.

Remington is under a sentence of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine. He was sentenced last Thurs-day after his conviction of lying when he claimed before a federal grand jury that he ever had been a member of the Communist party.

Under the U.S. Constitution, the number of electoral votes con-ferred on a state is equal to the number of members of senators and rep-resentatives that the state sends to Congress.

DOROTHY DIX Backward Beau

Dear Miss Dix: Do you think it fair for a man to keep the girl he loves waiting for seven years and then have nothing definite in mind regarding marriage? That is the situation I am in and my heart is breaking over it. For that length of time I have been keeping company with a man who could not marry because he had to support a mother, two sisters and a brother. Now the sisters and brother are able to support themselves and contribute their share toward making a home for the mother, but all that he says is that when both of the girls have good jobs "maybe" we can marry. Don't you think that he has done his duty by his family and should think something of his duty to me?

Answer: I wish I could tell you how to lead such a balky lover to the altar, for he is evidently balking and has no notion of letting you put the matrimonial halter around his neck. The only sensible thing for you to do is just to face the bitter truth that the young man has lost his affection for you and has no intention whatever of ever marrying you. Men in love do not act as he is doing. They don't put off the wedding day and talk vaguely about marrying some time in the distant future. They hurry it up. Somehow, some way, you have lost your allure for him and he no longer desires you. That is the explanation of his conduct.

Familiarity Can Kill Love

It is a hard thing to keep the love light burning for seven years. Women sometimes do, but men rarely accomplish the feat and it is doubtful if anything but a sense of duty causes many men to fulfill a marriage engagement that has lasted that long. The wear and tear of life can wear romance to tatters even more before marriage than it does afterward. Familiarity can rob a sweetheart of her glamour and turn her into a commonplace companion, and a man can come to resent the domination of the girl friend just as much as he can of the woman to whom he is married.

More than once in this column I have warned girls against the men whose attentions are without intentions. A girl is foolish to waste her time on a man who cannot even see the wedding day through a telescope.

Dear Miss Dix: I have a sister, 34 years old; a good-looking woman, has a good job, dresses well, has a car and a bank account. She is the very neatest and most orderly person in the world and the most systematic. A man of her own age wants to marry her. He is a widower with four children who do not know what it means to mind anyone. He has no property, no system, never knows where any of his belongings are, always hunting for his golf clubs, pipes, cigarettes, etc. He tells my sister that he needs a woman like her to bring up his children. Should she marry him?

Answer: Not unless she feels a call to martyrdom. There are no people more antagonistic to each other or who get more on each other's nerves than the orderly and the disorderly.

A slovenly husband and a neat wife never understand each other and are never able to adjust their different points of view. The man can't see why his wife is forever sweeping and scrubbing, and why she raises a row about newspapers and cigarette ashes being scattered over the floor. He thinks she is nagging when she reminds him to hang up his coat and his hat. And to the woman who is a scatterer is a perpetual thorn in the flesh. His ways aggravate her beyond endurance and his shiftlessness is a bone of contention between them.

Another reason why this would be a dangerous marriage is the children. Being a stepmother is the hardest job that any woman ever tackles and no one save a woman with an overwhelming maternal complex should undertake it. To marry a man with four undisciplined children is to let oneself in for purgatory.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have undoubtedly the most thoughtful, generous, sweet, adorable sweetheart on earth. The one and only fault tion period. The prizes were won by Mrs. Lorraine Blackwood and Mrs. D. L. Faught. The door prize was won by Mrs. Buck Foster.

Refreshments were served to the 12 members, Mrs. Blackwood, and one guest, Mrs. Alma Lee Sanders. The next meeting will be March 7 in the home of Mrs. C. R. Faught.

New York, Feb. 13 (AP)—A verbal spat between the PGA tournament committee and the Mexican Golf Association over alleged "recruiting" of American players had the $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open in a stew today.

Even the state department at Washington has gotten into the act. The Valley Open was an international event and some of the players said it was enjoying the publicity and the appearance of a group of American golfers in Mexico City for the Mexican National Open had become such a serious matter that the committee members here refused to consider disciplinary action until more of the committee are present.

That ought to be next week at Houston, home town of Jimmie Demaret, one of the golfers who went to Mexico. It is expected that Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif., co-chairman of the committee, will be there for the Houston Open.

Two members of the committee, Horton Smith of Detroit, and Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., last night replied to charges of the Mexican Golf association that the committee had "revoked or discarded" an agreement in ordering the golfers not to participate in the Mexican National Open.

Four members of the committee, Smith, Douglas, Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., and Leland Gibson of Antonio during a meeting at San Antonio during the Texas Open last week, held that the American golfers would be competing in the Mexican National Open in violation of by-laws of the PGA. The reasons: Because it was not a PGA-co-sponsored event, conflicted in dates with the Valley Open and was not a "major championship."

The state department entered the controversy yesterday when officials said Demaret and Vic Ghezzi of Long Island, N. Y., another of the golfing group going to Mexico, were helping the good neighbor policy by insisting on playing in the Mexican National Open.

During the second war, when Mr. Wilson was enduring much of his own country's wrath, he might have understood the government in the Washington race, he had been depressed to learn that "the White House" had put a limousine with chauffeur and unlimited gasoline, rationed to others, at the disposal of James E. Carey, the secretary of the CIO. A more useless parasite in the obstructive union program in that order is not definitely known to have existed.

Caray symbolized and personified the political cynicism, the parasitic and voluptuous character of the predators who were raised to great power by the regime which gave us La Brea Grande. He had no right to any luxury that was denied the rest of us.

Caray was a pet of the court only slightly below Joe Lash in the glorious lady's favor. The standard which now justified the drafting of plump striplings to redeem the follies of her husband and his successor, Caray would have been more fittingly employed pushing a bayonet than haggling over union matters in Washington, nevertheless, he rode his limousine while Charles E. Wilson, a modest, good and earnest man of great capacity, swung from a strap in a jargonous bus or shared a tin-bettle taxi to and from his job.

Mr. Wilson's nature is unchangeable. He cannot bring himself to be as harsh to rogues who lied up the railroads and join the transmission of this country's modulus as, under the facts, he should be. To a degree, this forbearance is the result of long experience with a nation of racketeers. Tell these venal men of the truth and they invoke the power of their panicked accomplices in Washington. Mr. Wilson learned to control his tongue. Yet, even before, he had been kind and kind, a little too humble, I think, in truly pious recognition of his great mundane success. Here is one great American who really does believe that his fortune has been due more to the opportunity that our good society gave him than to his own worth. He stands in heartening contrast to the nauseating frauds of radio and the night club periphery of the criminal underworld who memorize harangues on "Democracy," "tolerance" and "freedom" and beat their breasts over the sins of this impudence.

Mr. Wilson should have stated that the railroad paralysis was a treacherous outrage and that traitors who conspire to the United States must drag a global line and prepare to wage all-out war if Russian aggression crosses it.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Feb. 14 (AP)—Eddie White resigned as coach of the Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Barons of the American Basketball league because of "the nasty officiating against the Barons in recent weeks."

Wonder if any of the squawking college coaches ever thought of that solution? The University of Virginia, which doesn't belong to the Southern conference, will play all of its nine football games next fall against conference members. No team which does belong has such a schedule.

If Branch Rickey should get lonely for some familiar faces next summer, he can always go to Chicago. The Cubs' rookie list in the National league green book includes five players who formerly toiled in the Dodger chain. Branch doesn't have that many of his former chatters in Pittsburgh.

After his selection as Southern California football coach, Jess Hill received more than a thousand telegrams, letters and phone calls. The publicity dept. says they were congratulatory. Didn't anybody feel sorry for him?

Say That Again

Frank Dobrowski of Woonsocket, R. I., was driving through upper New York state recently when he picked up a hitchhiker. When conversation identified the thumper as a Syracuse university student, Frank remarked that his young nephew was a great admirer of a Syracuse halfback because "his name was the same." "What's the name?" the student asked. "Ed Dobrowski." "Gosh," gasped the rider, "that's me." He should have suspected something when he found a guy who could pronounce the name.

Tennessee Tech knocked several football players off the scholarship lists the other day when they failed to turn up for nightly "skull" drills after afternoon workouts. The kids complained the double sessions interfered with their school work.

Gil Gillespie, Moravian college basketball coach, is trying to figure out how many points his team has to score to win consistently. Moravian has averaged 65 points in 17 games and has won just four.

Ken Mosdell, Montreal Canadiens center, has had his nose bashed ten times playing hockey and hopes he won't threaten Eddie Shore's record of 14.

'Sick' Strikers to Be Prosecuted

Chicago, Feb. 13 (AP)—Government prosecutors mapped plans today to press the second contempt action against a railroad union for the recent 10-day "sick" strike of switchmen.

U. S. Attorney Otto Kerner, Jr., served notice on the brotherhood of railroad trainmen yesterday he will ask a federal judge today to set a date for hearing the action. The government charges the union with violating a temporary restraining order forbidding it to engage in a strike.

The brotherhood, which represents the some 12,000 switchmen who last week ended their walkout, was fined $25,000 in the government's first contempt action. Judge Michael L. Igoe found the BRT guilty of violating a strike-and injunction during the switchmen's "sick" walkout last December.

Union officials said they were considering an appeal of Judge Igoe's fine. The fine, imposed last Friday, has not been paid, the federal court clerk's office said.

The army, which has been in technical control of the nation's railroads since last August, said freight operations in the Chicago area were returning to normal.

AP&L Protests Proposed Job

Little Rock, Feb. 14 (AP)—Arkansas Power and Light has filed a protest with the Arkansas public service commission against a proposed $10,500,000 project of the Arkansas Electric Cooperative corporation.

Arkansas electric would build a 30,000-kilowatt steam generating plant at Oak and 54 miles of transmission line. A federal loan for the work has been approved.

A. P. and L. yesterday filed its intervention in the co-op's application for public service commission approval. Two other private utilities had taken similar action previously.

Fighting Irish Still Rising
to Occasion

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Feb. 14 (AP)—Notre Dame, apparently, hasn't completely lost the faculty of rising to the occasion when necessary.

After suffering through one of the worst football seasons in history, the Irish student body and alumni, subway and otherwise, turned to the basketball squad for some solace. But, again, they were disappointed.

That is, until last night's game with St. LKOUIS.

Notre Dame students had staged a sock-hop "Beat St. Louis" rally—and the South Bend engers didn't let them down, playing its finest game of a dull season, Notre Dame upset St. Louis, rated No. 5 nationally, 77-70.

Previously, the Irish had slugged the big games and they almost didn't make it this time. Notre Dame roared to a 46-20 halftime bulge. But St. Louis, proving why it has defeated teams like Kentucky and Bradley, turned on the steam for a 50-point second half.

It wasn't enough. The bid lead stood up. And the Notre Dame fans went home happy.

It was ND's 11th victory against seven losses and avenged an earlier loss to St. Louis. Dan Bailey, with 31 points, tied Notre Dame's all-time single-game scoring record set by Vince Boryla against Detroit in 1945.

All the way across the country, Oregon gained undisputed possession of first place in the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference by downing Washington State, the erstwhile leader, 66-57. State fell to third place, behind Washington. Oregon has a 7-4 conference mark. They play again tonight and a State victory would reverse their positions again.

Kentucky, ranked No. 1 in this week's Associated Press poll, took a breather from conference play—but the result was the same. The Wildcats smashed Xavier of Ohio, 78 to 51, as Bill Spivey poured in 40 points. It was Kentucky's 20th victory in 21 starts.

North Carolina State, No. 9 nationally, also gained a bit of revenge, whipping Louisville, 92-78, at Raleigh, N. C. Louisville had ripped State by 16 points on its home floor last month.

New Mexico A. & M. halted Arizona's border conference winning streak at nine games by edging the Wildcats, 67-66, at Las Cruces, N. M.

Bobcats Upset
Highly Favored
DeQueen, 38-31

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

The mighty DeQueen Leopards hit the dust here last night with the Hope Bobcats on the long end of a 38 to 31 score. The victory avenged a lopsided licking handed the Bobcats at DeQueen earlier in the season.

Going into the contest with the best record of any team in this section the Leopards were fought to a standstill all the way and in the final quarters the Bobcats got hot.

The game was tied up 15 times. The opening quarter ended with DeQueen out front 10 to 0. At the half Hope led by a single point 10-15 and maintained that lead 20 to 23 at the end of the third period.

Mitchell and Beasley led the Bobcats with 10 points each while Barrentine and Guillemin rounded out the score with 9 apiece. DeQueen's high-scoring Buddy Smith was held to 15-points and Q. Crews made 8.

The Hope Juniors were dubbed 17 to 23 by the baby Leopards in the opening contest.

The Hope Senior Girls were winners at Patmos by a 42 to 30 score, mainly on the 30 points tossed in by Betty Mitchell. Hope's B. boys also downed Patmos "B" by a 61 to 31 tally. Walker was high with 24 points.

Crump Bunch After Mayor of Memphis

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 13 (AP)—Mayor Watkins Overton has accused E. H. Crump's political organization of trying to kick him out of office because he was too successful.

He said last night it was clear he had simply been used to recoup the political fortunes of the Crumped Shelby County Democratic organization.

Overton said he was drafted as mayor by the city commission when the organization's prestige was at low tide, helped it get back on its feet, and now found himself under calculated attack.

"Putting it in the simplest terms," he said, "when I went in as mayor in January, 1949, I was no longer needed.

won. I had become a threat, and needed. Now that the victory was kind things about it. I had to be destroyed."

Overton's bitterly worded statement didn't mention Crump's name. He confined his attack to the "organization." However, the group rarely makes an important move without Crump's direction.

The mayor's outline of the dispute apparently was his answer to a blast from Crump last Saturday. Crump said Overton was trying to establish "Russian veto" power over the city commission.

Overton had advocated a "strong mayor" system of government for Memphis in the climax to a five-month feud with the commission.

Mighty Hunters

A total of 7485 big game hunters from 42 states, Alaska, and the District of Columbia, entered Wyoming to hunt in the fall of 1947.

The cold wash of fear began to fall away and in Lisa's mind grew instead the terrible, burning relief of what she had been saved. Their marriage—she and Court—would never have had a chance.

What was left after her realization was not very strong, but at least . . . and then Angus Kent's face resolved out of the confusion in her mind and Lisa remembered.

To reassure herself, she reached out and touched Court's hand. He jumped nervously and tried to smile at her, but it was a twisted and futile attempt.

"Andrew should shut up," he said roughly. "He was too drunk to know what happened since he came home."

There was an insinuation in his tone that didn't miss its mark. Andrew flushed and there was a look to him that Lisa Farwell feared. Don't antagonize him, please, she thought. His attitude is wrong. He's dangerous. Afterward, when it was all over and they were on their way home, the thought lingered above all others.

And several days later, she remembered it again.

THE days trudged along slowly. The funeral was held Saturday morning. It was private, of course. Lisa waited for Court to call her afterward, but the phone didn't ring and he didn't come to see her. She tried to put out of her thoughts the complicated cross-weave of motives and implications brought out during the questioning the day before, she wanted to discuss them with her father but he had put up a barrier almost as effective as Court's.

Finally, by Saturday afternoon she couldn't bear the remoteness any longer. She tackled the problem with her father in the den.

"You were right," she said tearfully. "It couldn't have worked out for Court and me with his mother alive."

She struggled under the pebble that came to her each time she thought of marriage in Court, now that she had met Angus Kent. Strange how everything seemed before and after that meeting. There seemed no in-between.

Crimson Holiday

By Jane Holsinger
COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: The person who murdered her husband, Lisa Farwell, was saving the brake of her wheel chair, resulting in the woman's plunge to death in a ravine. The most certainly someone very close to her—Lisa, who has dominated her family for years, was unraveled by members of her family, her husband, and her neighbors. Lisa Farwell, daughter of the murdered woman's aunt, Court, witnessed the tragedy in company with Angus Kent, a young lawyer. Lisa's father also was being saved the scene and so did Lisa. Lisa's sister, Angela, was also present. The sheriff now is questioning these witnesses and others closely. Court Grenable, another son of the murdered woman's daughter, Lisa Farwell, is the most wanted man in the state. He is the man who shot the woman's father, and he is the man who shot the woman's mother. The sheriff now is questioning these witnesses and others closely. Court Grenable, another son of the murdered woman's daughter, Lisa Farwell, is the most wanted man in the state. He is the man who shot the woman's father, and he is the man who shot the woman's mother.

Henry Farwell nodded his head. And then, even before Andrew Grenable spoke, a terrible expression began to grow in Lisa's father's eyes. And from that expression came panic within herself.

"You told my father the colt that my mother wanted years ago, didn't you?" Andrew asked Mr. Farwell.

SHERIFF LANE turned to Court Grenable. "Yes, Court, Mrs. Grenable's diary did mention other things." Court seemed ready to wilt. "I assume you're asking if I mentioned your coming marriage to Miss Farwell."

Lisa saw that the sheriff had assumed wrong, that Lavinia Grenable's diary hadn't revealed what Court feared would reveal. Lisa saw the actual relief slip into Court's eyes and a certain pleased expression remain in them.

"Ah, no!" Again it was the half-amused, half-bitter Andrew Grenable who interrupted. Andrew seemed to be enjoying himself immensely. He looked at his brother Court with a malicious mischief in his eyes. "Not just the marriage, hey, Court?"

And then, wheeling abruptly in his chair, so that his long, bony legs bent sideways and his angular face came closer to Lisa, Andrew spoke partly to her, partly to the sheriff.

A Good Man Could Fix RFC-Fulbright

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—The senate banking committee's ranks were divided today in a battle with the White House for a reorganization in the reconstruction finance corporation.

On one hand Senator Maybank
(D-NC), moved warily in apparent efforts to restore peace between President Truman and a committee faction headed by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark).

O the other, Fulbright, who has been swapping stinging verbal thrusts with Mr. Truman, said the door is still open for a compromise
but added:

"There's nothing wrong with the RFC that one honest man could not cure."

He emphasized he meant some one with a free hand to run the agency, as proposed in his pending bill to put the RFC under a one-man boss.

President Truman recently described as a failure a report of a banking subcommittee headed by Fulbright which accused three members of the RFC board of directors of being dominated by Donald Dawson, a White House aide, and others.

The report singled out directors
Walter L. Dunham, William E. Willett and C. Edward Rowe for the criticism, but made no mention of the other two directors, Walter Cosgriff and Chairman W. Elmer Harber.

Mr. Truman countered the charges by asking congress Monday to confirm all five men to their jobs. The senate twice has refused to confirm them for the posts which they now hold on temporary appointments.

Maybank yesterday authorized the Fulbright subcommittee to reopen its inquiries, probably Monday, but he left dangling the question of what to do with the directors' nominations.

Bids Souht on Two Highway Jobs

Little Rock, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Arkansas highway commission has advised for bids on two Crittenden county projects. The bids will be opened Feb. 28.

The projects:
About 793 miles of grading,
drainage, structures, concrete pavement, a reinforced concrete and structural steel overpass and a traffic interchange structure of similar construction on the Marion-St.
Francis levee road, state highway 61.

About 1,076 miles gravel surface course on the big creek north and south road, a county road, beginning about 1.2 miles south of Turnell and extending northward.

Both are federal aid jobs.

UN Group to Discuss Atom Issues

Lake Success, Feb. 14 (AP)—An new United Nations committee
meets today to take up President Truman's suggestion that the U. N.
combine talks on atomic energy control and world reduction of other weapons.

Special urgency is given to the committee's work by the belief, widely held here, that recent U. S. atom tests in Nevada were of atomic warheads for conventional arms.

In view of current world tension, however, there is little hope that any substantial progress can be made toward international control within any framework.

Today's meeting is scheduled to open with an address by Secretary General Trygve Lie, then proceed to organizational work. Frank Nash will represent the United States.

Other members of the committee are Britain, Brazil, Canada, China, Ecuador, France, India, The Netherlands, Russia, Turkey and Yugoslavia.

They meet the day after the U. N. gave the U. S. two resounding votes of confidence.

The general assembly showed its disbelief of Russian charges of American aggression against Formosa by throwing the complaint out 48 to 0, with Burma, Indonesia and Yugoslavia abstaining.

A puppet show in Salzburg, Austria, is accompanied by a full orchestra and the singing of real opera stars.

PIN-WORMS GO!

Go! • Jayne's P-W Gets Real Results

Pidgling, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... only parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these parasites must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do
... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for gentle Jayne's P-W Vermifuge...
